Schedule 3 Minimum standards for keeping animals generally<sup>3</sup>

section 8(1)

Animal Standards

- (a) The owner or responsible person must ensure that waste waters from enclosures are drained in a nuisance free manner and that run-off is kept off adjoining land or as otherwise directed by an authorised person.
  - (b) The owner or responsible person must ensure that excreta, food scraps and other material that is, or is likely to become, offensive or is likely to, or does, attract vermin, is collected at least daily and, if not immediately removed from the premises, is kept in a fly proof container.
  - (c) The owner or responsible person must ensure that any enclosure in which the animal is kept is in a clean and sanitary condition.
  - (d) The owner or responsible person must ensure that any enclosure in which the animal is kept is properly maintained in an aesthetically acceptable condition.
  - (e) Parts of a building or structure which does not have openings through which an animal can escape may form part of the enclosure in lieu of fencing.
  - (f) Where gates form part of the enclosure, they must be kept closed and latched except when in actual immediate use.
  - (g) Must contain adequate shelter, food and water.
  - (h) A person who keeps an animal on premises must ensure that it does not cause an animal noise nuisance.
2. For the purposes of section 1(h) an animal causes noise nuisance if it makes a noise which –
- (a) occurs more than once; and
  - (b) disrupts or inhabits an activity ordinarily carried out on adjoining or nearby residential premises.

Example for section 2(b) –

A noise made by an animal which disrupts a person –

- (a) holding a conversation; or
- (b) watching a television; or

<sup>3</sup> Note that the Environmental Protection Act 1994 imposes duties on individuals and creates offences in relation to activities that may cause environmental nuisance, which might include noise, odours or dust caused by the keeping of animals.

- (c) listening to a radio or recorded material; or
- (d) sleeping.

In order for an animal noise nuisance under this section 2 to occur, it is not necessary that the degree of interference from the noise is such as to be continuous or to make it practically impossible to –

- (a) hold a conversations; or
- (b) watch a television; or
- (c) listen to a radio or recorded at ordinary volumes; or
- (d) fall or stay asleep.

Any occurrence by which a person is woken from sleep or by which a person is distracted or annoyed during the course of carrying out some other ordinary activity, in a way which would not occur in the absence of the animal noise, is a disruption to or an inhibition of an activity ordinarily carried out on residential premises. It is not necessary that the animal noise totally drowns out the sound of the conversation, television, radio or recorded material. It is sufficient if attention is merely diverted from this sound by the noise which is being made by the animal. It is not necessary that the animal noise be a repeated or ongoing interruption of sleep or that it be the total shattering of sleep.

3. The criteria an authorised person must consider when deciding whether an animal makes a noise which disrupts or inhibits an activity ordinarily carried out on adjoining or nearby residential premises include –
  - (a) has the local government received 3 complaints of a contravention of section 1(h) from 3 persons all of whom occupy separate premises in the same or adjoining street to the premises the subject of the complaints; and
  - (b) has the local government received 2 complaints of a contravention of section 1(h) in circumstances where the land the subject of the complaints is not located in an area occupied predominately by residential premises.
